

PATIENT OUTCOMES: WELL-BEING FROM THE PATIENT PERSPECTIVE

A part of comprehensive quality care is understanding our patients from head to toe, injury to recovery.

Your physician will ask you to complete a health status form prior to and following surgery. These forms can be emailed to you, or you may complete them online at TCOmn.com/oberd. More instruction on how to complete these forms can be found below.

 Pre-operative forms must be completed before surgery.

Why does my physician want this information?

These forms will help measure your level of ability and pain. This information will help your physician assess your health status for physical, mental and social well-being.

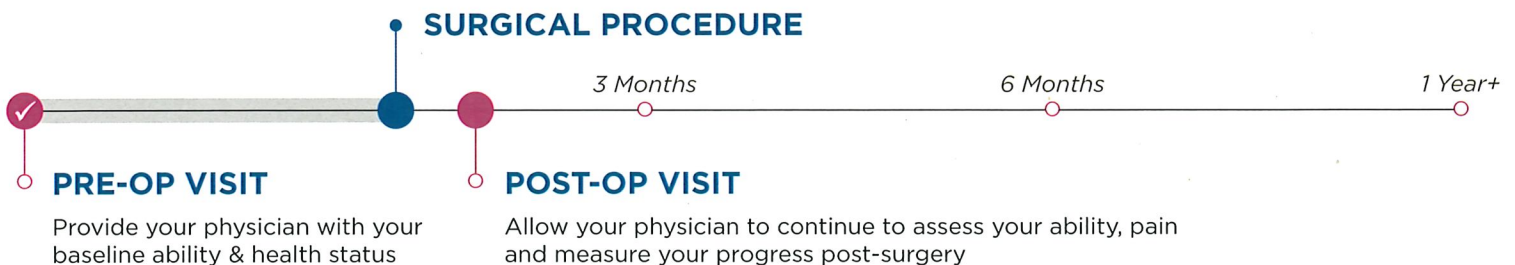

What will your physician do with the information?

Your physician will use this information to track your progress over time.

How do I complete the forms?

1. If you've provided an email address to your care team, your physician will send an email including a link to the forms. You can expect your physician to email you periodically throughout the next few weeks, months or years looking for updates on your ability and pain status. If you would like to provide an email address, please contact our registration desk at 952-512-5600.
2. If you did not receive a link to the forms, go to TCOmn.com/oberd. Begin by entering your personal information and your Patient ID. After you login, you will be presented with a screen displaying the forms that your physician requested. Click the "START" button next to the form to begin recording your responses.

If you login and do not see medical forms to complete, this means your physician is up to date on your current health status and there is no action required at this time.

○ TCO Collects: Your functional ability, mental and physical global health, surgery satisfaction and pain management control

Visit TCOmn.com/oberd to update your provider about your health.

PATIENT ID: _____

TCO-302B (6/17)

